PLEADS LIVING COSTS CAUSED HIM TO STEAL AND ROB

Joseph J. Buckley, Phila., Sentenced to Eastern "Pen" Term

SOME BRISTOL CASES

A Retired Army Captain, Charles E. Moreland, Is Paroled

DOYLESTOWN, May 19—Giving the "high cost of living" as an excuse for his larceny and receiving stolen goods, Joseph J. Buckley, 35, Barnard avenue, Philadelphia, formerly a resident of Hultmeville, was sentenced to serve not less than three nor more than seven years in the Eastern State Penitentiary by Judge Hiram H. Keller.

Buckley, who is married and a father of a son, stole an electric sweeper, valued at $69, from a Newtown store April 5.

From another Newtown store, he stole a $225 television set, which he never had the nerve to sell because it contained a serial number and he was afraid of being caught.

From another Newtown business man, Nov. 26 1947, he stole a radio and electric clock. Chief of Police Edward H. Bateman, of Newtown, and Assistant County Detective William L. Stackhouse, made the investigations.

Buckley, who testified that soon after his marriage the steel strike was on for 13 weeks, said he needed money to live.

"There are thousands of people who are confronted with the high cost of living and not able to keep up as high a standard as they used to, but they still don't steal," argued District Attorney Edward G. Biester.

Buckley, who is employed at a big industrial plant but is a radio man by hobby, admitted that he lost another job because the owner accused him of stealing more than $1,000 worth of merchandise from the store.

Leon Collins, 32, Oxford Valley, who pleaded guilty to burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods, which consisted of antique dishes and chairs, was sentenced by President Judge Keller to serve not less than six months nor more than 23 months in the County Prison.

Paul Sterling, Fallsington auctioneer, testified that Collins, a helper, stole dishes, valued at $175, and six plank-backed chairs, valued at $100, from the Hibbs estate. Trooper Andrew J. Kutney, Langhorne Pennsylvania State Police man, investigated the case. A fine of $50 and the costs of prosecution were also imposed.

Mrs. Mary Bradley, 46, of Bristol, who pleaded guilty to drunken driving Feb. 16 and was arrested by Officer William McCann, of the Bristol Police Department, was directed to pay a fine of $150 and the costs of prosecution which amounted to $30. Because she did not have the cash, she was remanded to the County Prison until she gets the money.

Rollins F. Hetzel, 25, who pleaded guilty to driving a truck after his operator's license had been revoked, was directed to pay $100 and the costs of prosecution. Sentence was suspended.

State Police C. J. Sauer, Pennsylvania State Trooper, arrested Hetzel April 21. He said he was driving a truck for a friend who had the shingles. Hetzel served three months in the County Prison for having pleaded guilty to larceny and receiving stolen goods October 17, 1944.

Charles L. Miller, 20, Bristol Terrace, No. 2, a Bristol Cemetery Company worker, who pleaded guilty to stealing a revolver, valued

"TAINT FAIR!"

On March 2 the Navy was climaxing its biggest postwar maneuvers with a gigantic amphibious exercise in the Caribbean. That same day an Air Force B-50 Superfortress, "Lucky Lady II," just happened to complete the first non-stop flight around the world.

The Air Force got the headlines of big type. The Navy was sore. Congress, at the time, was considering how much money to spend on the armed forces.

It has since become clear that congressional sentiment favors a much more liberal spending policy for the Air Force than for the Army or Navy.

Last week the Navy was showing off its Constitution, the world's largest passenger plane. On Wednesday the 92-ton, 180-passenger ship alighted at Oklahoma City. It was getting plenty of attention from the crowd when a distant roar was heard. Looking up, the people saw another giant plane approaching. It just happened to be an Air Force B-30, the world's largest military-type aircraft. It let down low and buzzed the crowd and the Navy plane. It got the crowd's attention.

In more normal, more relaxed times in military circles the affair would have been regarded as simply a salute by one service to another. It might be likened to the welcoming of a great new steamship in New York Harbor—when the biggest ships in port tie down their whistles in a terrific din in honor of the newcomer to the business.

But at Oklahoma City, under present circumstances, the Navy wasn't happy. It felt the Air Force's motives were not of pure good will. If this suspicion was accurate, then the plot was unfair—wholly unworthy of the brave defenders of the Wild Blue Yonder!

BUSINESS IN CHINA

When the communists take over Shanghai, American business interests there will have small chance of operating profitably. But a majority of these concerns will remain in the hope they can adjust themselves and their affairs to the new regime. Since the reds took over Tientsin American-owned banks, with one exception, have been forced to close. The same thing will happen in Shanghai.

American interests have $120,000,000 invested in Shanghai, which constitutes 80 per cent of all American holdings in China. The British have more than seven times that investment. There are 200 American concerns now operating in Shanghai, mostly corporations. The number has decreased greatly since war conditions became acute.

Normally American business with China isn't large. Total exports to that country in 1947 were valued at $353,000,000.

Communist Eisler paid 25 cents to get aboard the ship on which he fled from this country. Cheap guy, besides what else he is.

Hulmeville Ladies' Aid Marks 70th Anniversary

HULMEVILLE, May 19—Sixty-eight gathered at banquet tables in Epworth hall of Neshaminy Methodist Church last evening, to celebrate the 70th anniversary of the organizing of the Ladies' Aid Society. On this occasion a dinner was served; program of entertainment given; brief history of the organization presented; and four women who have been affiliated with the Aid for over 30 years were honored.

The short history of the Aid as given by the president, Mrs. Hugh B. Webster, included unusual bits of information taken from early minute books. She told how the Aid was formed on April 2, 1879, at the Methodist parsonage, the first president and the organizer being Mrs. Cook, wife of the one serving as pastor at that time. Some articles of the constitution were mentioned; and the group was informed that in the early days several men were also members. Over half a century ago among the methods of raising money was the serving, every New Year's Day, of dinners to the horse company in this area, the work including preparation of 2100 oysters, five pigs, etc. Years ago meetings were held in Burlington, N. J., Bristol, Bensalem, Langhorne, and other points, some members living at a distance from here. Early complaints were that trips by carriage to some functions at a distance were too expensive, due to toll road fees.

The four members honored, and who were presented with pins were: Mrs. Edwin W. Henry, a member for 46 years; Mrs. Edward VanArtsdalen, 39 years; Mrs. Ashbel Buckman, 37 years; and Mrs. Alfred Woolman, 33 years. Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Woolman were unable to be present.

Invited guests included husbands of Aid members, members of the official board, the adult choir, and others.

The program which followed the dinner was announced as follows by Mrs. Samuel K. Faust: Group singing; piano solo, "If Traveltore," Miss Clara L. Hillick; baritone solo, "Recessional" and "Sing Me To Sleep," Henry Mills; selections by vocal trio, "Galway Bay" and "Forever and Ever," the Misses Grace H. Hillick and Adeline E. Reetz; and Mrs. Elwyn Neltzel; piano solo, Mrs. William Gotthardt; remarks, the Rev. John C. Kulp, pastor, vocal solo, "Indian Love Call" and "My Hero," Miss Marian Voorhees. Pictures in natural color were then shown. Miss Adeline E. Reetz presented reels of motion pictures, including scenes of a rodeo and parade in southern California, and others taken in the Hawaiian Islands last August. Another reel included many members of the local church and Sunday School taken after a morning service about 10 years ago. Slides of Hawaiian Island scenes were also shown by Miss Elma E. Haefer.

The menu included: Fresh fruit cup, baked ham, escalloped potatoes, peas, cole slaw, cranberry sauce, rolls, butter, coffee, tea, home-made cake, ice cream, and mints, the latter being in plastic baskets. Each of the tables was in a different pastel tone, yellow, pink and blue being used. The candles, favors, napkins and decorations on the cakes (with the wording "70th Anniversary") were in the pastel shades. Welcome was extended by Mrs. Webster, and the blessing asked by the Rev. Mr. Kulp. Members of the official board served the dinner which Aid members prepared.

Germany's Basic Law

The American theory of such rights is to be found set forth in the Declaration of Independence:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

When in 1787 the Constitutional Convention recommended the ratification by the people of the several states the body of the present U. S. Constitution, American public opinion made a momentous decision.

It would ratify no Constitution which lacked a bill of rights—lacked a statement of personal immunities and privileges upon which the Federal Government would be forever barred from trespassing. This point of view, for which Thomas Jefferson was principal spokesman, prevailed. The Constitution was ratified only with the promise that a bill of rights would be incorporated in it. Hence the first ten amendments.

Earlier in this article, attention was called to the profound difference between a "constitution" and a "basic law."

The German charter, not being submitted to the people, cannot correctly be called a "constitution." The German people themselves have had no voice in its acceptance. Had there been an attempt made, in 1787, to put the original Constitution into effect without ratification, it would have encountered overwhelming opposition; but through the act of ratification, the American people were able to insist on the inclusion of some of its most important passages—the Bill of Rights.

The American Bill of Rights touch on some of the most significant fields in which the power of government is limited in its dealings with individual citizens.

The manner in which this is done is most significant: Congress was prohibited from passing laws limiting the rights of the citizens in these fields.

Included are such matters as religion, free speech and press, the right of assembly and petition, the right to keep and bear arms, peace-time quartering of soldiers, immunity from search and seizure except for probable cause, detention without an indictment, double jeopardy, self-incrimination, seizure of property or person without due process and (in the case of property) without compensation, speedy public trial by jury, right to confront witnesses, right to subpoena witnesses, right to counsel, right to jury trial in civil suits, right not to suffer from excessive bail or fines, immunity from cruel and unusual punishments, and the broader right to all other rights not enumerated in the Constitution or specifically given to the Federal government.

Certain other basic human rights and guarantees not listed in the bill of rights are elsewhere in the Constitution. For instance, the right of habeas corpus, immunity from attainder and ex post facto laws, and in some ways, most important of all—right of access to the Federal judiciary for any case in law or equity in which the citizen believes his constitutional rights infringed.

Now, a comparison of this list—which is certainly not an exhaustive list of all personal rights guaranteed against Federal invasion by the American Constitution—with similar parts of the German basic law will show many significant omissions in the latter code.

However, without attempting to list the parts of the American Bill of Rights not even referred to in the German charter, there is a still more important difference.

As noted above, the main Constitutional protection is the prohibition of laws invading these rights—"Congress shall make no law, etc."

But in the German charter, the situation is reversed. Instead of being prohibited from limitations on constitutional rights through legislative enactments, the German government is explicitly authorized to interpret and limit these rights by law.

In every case where a so-called right is set forth, there immediately follows a passage giving the legislative branch of government power to "define," limit and, as a practical matter, destroy, this very same right.

"These rights (free speech) shall be limited by law, etc."

"These rights (life and freedom) may be interfered with only on the basis of the legal order."

"Details (of freedom of religion and conscience) shall be regulated by a federal law."

"This right (freedom of assembly) may be restricted by legislation or on a basis of law."

"Restrictions (on secrecy of mail) may be ordered only on a basis of law."

"This right (of freedom of movement) may be restricted only by legislation, etc."

"Contents and limitations (on the right of owning and inheriting property) shall be determined by legislation."

But this is by no means the extent to which these supposedly God-given rights are limitable by the German government.

An ingenious paragraph (Article 18) in its application makes it virtually mandatory on all citizens to be able to prove they are not using these rights "to attack the free democratic basis."

This Article is worth quoting in full—for it holds the germ of the rebirth of the Gestapo, and in any event certainly leaves the invasion of the "constitutionally guaranteed rights" open not only to the legislative branch, as cited above, but to the executive and judicial as well:

"Whoever abuses freedom of expression of opinion, in particular, freedom of the press; freedom of teaching; freedom of assembly; freedom of association; secrecy of mail, post and telecommunications; property; or the right of asylum in order to attack the free democratic basis and order shall forfeit these basic rights. Forfeiture and its extent shall be pronounced by a federal constitutional court."

Anyone who still has any lingering faith that the new German basic law was "modeled" after the American pattern has only to consider the implications of that provision, to realize that there is no resemblance beyond some of the surface phraseology.

That one paragraph alone is sufficient to indict the German basic law in the minds of all liberty-loving peoples—particularly when the code is being represented as a counterpart of the American Constitution.

Even this sweeping paragraph (Article 18) in its application makes it virtually mandatory on all citizens to be able to prove they are not using these rights "to attack the free democratic basis."

What is the recourse of an American citizen who feels that his Constitutional rights have been invaded? He can appeal to the Federal judiciary.

The Supreme and other Federal Courts, in this land, are the watchdog of individual rights and freedom.

One of the greatest glories of the American pattern has been that the humblest citizen, believing himself oppressed by the majestic officers of government, could—and repeatedly has—carried his suit to the highest court in the nation, there to find "equal justice for all."

Does the German citizen have such guardian?

Unhappily, no!

The new basic law sets up an elaborate court system. There is a Federal Constitutional Court, and a Supreme Federal Court. Federal Ministers of Justice, and provision for other type of Federal sub-judiciaries, including Higher Federal Courts.

But the Constitutional Court is primarily to act as arbiter between branches and sub-branches of the government—not between Government and citizen. The Supreme Court is to "decide in cases where the decision is of fundamental importance of the uniformity of justice in the higher federal courts." And the Higher Federal Courts "will be established for the spheres of ordinary administrative, finance, labor and social jurisdiction."

Where does the man with just cause for grievance, relating to his basic rights, come out, in this pattern? Apparently, he doesn't.

If any provision in a charter of government pretending to be "republican," "democratic" or "free" is supremely important, it would seem to be one guaranteeing the individual citizen the right to appeal to courts for interpretation and protection of his other rights.

Try to find such a passage in the new German basic law!

Pleads Living Costs Caused Him to Steal and Rob

at $20, from the desk drawer of the Bristol Processing Company, was given suspended sentence by Judge Keller, who placed the youth on probation for one year and directed him to pay the costs of prosecution.

Chief Linford C. Jones, of Bristol, said the youth stole the revolver March 14 when he was laid off by his plant. The defendant could give no reason for his conduct.

A retired Army captain, Charles E. Moreland, formerly of Lacey Park, now of Ventnor, N. J., was paroled by Judge Keller yesterday after serving some time in prison here for assault and battery which grew out of beating his wife in their Lacey Park home. His minimum 18 months' sentence would have expired May 30. He is a former radio engineer.

Dalton Biggers, 28, Langhorne, Negro, who pleaded guilty to assault and battery on his wife, Anna, mother of their three children, by beating her with a clothes prop, April 30, was placed on probation indefinitely. He is under a support order now and was directed to pay costs of prosecution amounting to $64.

John Becker, formerly of Parkland, now of Philadelphia, and a Langhorne wallpaper mill worker, was given a suspended sentence on condition that he pays the costs of prosecution amounting to $61. James Berry and his wife, Marguerite, testified the defendant attacked them with a shotgun May 4. Bitter feelings existed because Becker resided in a house over which James Berry was caretaker.

Finish Aqueduct At Lumberville Project

NEW HOPE, May 19 — Restoration of the Delaware Canal is gradually being accomplished according to engineers engaged in constructing an aqueduct at Point Pleasant.

When completed, the aqueduct will be 12-feet wide with walls six-feet high. Steel girders will support a reinforced concrete trough which will carry the canal waters over the creek.

Engineers pointed out that a small aqueduct, a 54-foot span at Lumberville, has been completed. This aqueduct will soon be ready to have the boards removed from the sides and base.

Three locks are being rebuilt, new gates constructed and dams built between Lumberville and New Hope. Between Point Pleasant and Ingham Creek, several new locks and stop walls also are being constructed.

Since the eight-mile stretch between Point Pleasant and New Hope was the most seriously damaged by the 1936 flood, the problems of reconstruction there are the most difficult.

the same way that you gave here and you will be successful. Don't be satisfied at any time, keep going after more. Whatever your goal is, go after it and after you get it, go after more. We have had our 'gripes' but that is the American way. The American people would die if they didn't have something to gripe about."

"I wish you all good luck. Remember what you did here and conduct yourself in the same manner and you will make out. I enjoyed all of my time with you and hope you have a good future."

Horne Jeffers, whose term of office expired last night, thanked the members and officers for the co-operation given him in his tenure of office and he assured the next president that he will give him all the help he can.

The invocation was by the Rev. Rowland Carlson, pastor of the Harriman Methodist Church.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

BEFORE preparing a dinner for her family, the average housewife is usually more concerned with the meal's main course than with the incidental foods which play a supporting role at her table.

Therefore, in order to guarantee that a Hawaiian baked pork, this week's dinner suggestion, will be a smash hit, the A & P Service for Homemakers recommends that careful attention be given all the items on this typical spring menu.

First have four, or more, shoulder pork steaks cut into individual servings. Also have available at least four bacon strips, two cups of crushed pineapple, three or more medium sized sweet potatoes, two tablespoons of brown sugar and, of course, salt and pepper.

Place the pineapple in one large baking dish, or four individual ones. Pare and slice sweet potatoes, place over pineapple and sprinkle with brown sugar. Season pork steaks with salt and pepper and place on top of sweet potatoes. On top arrange bacon strips.

Cover and bake in moderate (350°F) oven until sweet potatoes and chops are tender in about an hour. Then remove cover and increase the temperature to a very hot (450°F) oven for the last ten minutes of cooking in order to brown potatoes and bacon. This savory, satisfying dish will serve four. Increase ingredients proportionately for additional servings. Serve with creamed celery, green beans and, for dessert, prepare a cranberry mousse, unusual yet economical and extremely tasty.

Rolled Fish Fillets Boston

A FISH MEAL OF ECONOMY AND VARIETY

Are you faced with the ever-present problem of adding variety to your meals and still staying within the budget? Try to make more use of fish, one of the most economical of all protein foods.

It is a wise homemaker who realizes how much she can add to her family's mealtime enjoyment by serving fish twice a week. There are hundreds of different ways of preparing fish. Here is one using the delicious fillets that are increasing so rapidly in popularity because they are so flavorful and easy to prepare.

Almost any type of fresh or frozen fresh fillets may be used in this recipe. If the fillets are more than eight inches long, cut them in half before rolling. If they are more than five inches across, cut them in half lengthwise.

The dinner consisted of: celery, olives, tomato juice, turkey platter, cold slaw, rolls and butter, coffee, ice cream, and cookies.

Relates Robbery As Son Sits On Her Lap

Adolph Peishel, whose meat market is near Mrs. Hudson's home, said that on Feb. 26 he hid himself and that he saw Mrs. Hudson open the window, enter the butcher shop and open the money drawer. "I thought she was using the dead-latch at the door to leave when she was only beginning to open the money drawer," said Peishel. "I heard the change in the drawer rattles instead of the dead-latch as I thought."

Mrs. Hudson, without any emotional disturbance or apparent remorse, coldly told how she stole money to pay money she owed her mother, electric light bills, coal bills and to buy food.

Her husband, Chief Ship testified, said: "I thought something like this would happen" when he was notified of his wife's crime.

The butcher-proprietor, Peishel, did not report the second attempt until several weeks later because he "pitted the children and husband of the mother-defendant."

She was unable to explain satisfactorily why she made a second attempt to steal some more money when she still had $45 left from the first $152 theft.

Including radishes, carrots, beets, lettuce and the early varieties of sweet corn. A number of gardeners have also planted bush lima beans.

The early planting of spinach on the large truck farms in the lower part of the county promises to result in a good yield. Spinach that was left out over the Winter has been harvested. Truckers in the lower part of the county during the past few weeks have been in the midst of the asparagus harvest. Much of this has been sent to the markets in New York and Philadelphia.

CHECK THE STORAGE SUPPLIES NOW FOR FREEZING OF GOODS

By Miss Frances Vannoy

Home Economists Representative

The wise homemaker will look over her supply of cartons and packaging material now to be ready to freeze garden fruits and vegetables when these products are at their prime. If last year's cartons were rinsed with lukewarm water and stored in a clean place, use them again. Check and discard any which have breaks or cracks, for air is the enemy of frozen food and will cause rapid deterioration.

If the wax coating has been scratched on cartons, rewrap them by painting with a small brush dipped in melted paraffin, advises the extension worker. For fruits with sirup, use rigid waxed or plastic cartons or glass or tin containers. For vegetables, use cellophane or plastic bags protected by an outer carton.

Square cartons make better use of space than round ones. Try the new type tin and plastic containers now available—they are more expensive but can be used over and over again. There are special boxes to hold a cut up chicken. Put two sheets of cellophane or other locker paper between each layer of chicken to separate pieces easily.

The local extension representative notes that cellophane can be used to wrap bread, cake, or other cooked foods. Crumple a small piece and put it in the top of a container of peaches, apples, or pears to hold the fruit under the sirup and prevent darkening on top. Wrap small amounts of chopped green peppers or mushrooms for seasoning in squares of cellophane, twisting the edges together to seal.

Place brittle cellophane in the freezer or refrigerator for a day or two and it will become soft and useful again. Home freezers need defrosting once or twice a year. If food supplies are low, now is a good time to defrost.

The highest responsible bidder shall be the one who, having complied with the conditions of sale, offers to take the whole amount of the issue at the lowest interest rate to be named by the bidder or bidders. The bonds will be sold to the total amount of interest to be paid on account of the bonds offered, if any, over and above the face amount of the issue.

Bids must be accompanied by a certified check, cashier's check or Treasurer's check drawn on a Federal Reserve Bank, in the amount of the bid, or a sum of money, equal to two per cent of the face amount of the bonds, as security against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. The deposit of each successful bidder will be returned immediately upon the award of the bonds. In the case of the successful bidder, the deposit will be held by the Treasurer of the Borough of Halmerville until the bonds are actually delivered and paid for. These obligations will be payable from unlimited ad valorem taxes.

The enactment at any time prior to the delivery of the bonds of Federal legislation which in terms, by the repeal or omission of exemptions or otherwise, subjects to a Federal income tax the interest on bonds of a class or character which includes these bonds, will not affect the purchaser's right to receive the purchase price when the bonds are actually delivered and paid for.

The trip will be made by bus, and those planning to go are asked to meet at the club home, Cedar street, at 12 o'clock noon. In case of rain, the trip will be cancelled. BROAD JUMP WINS TRACK MEET FOR BRISTOL HIGH

BURLINGTON, N. J., May 19.—First and second place in the broad jump gave Bristol High's track team a victory over Burlington High here, yesterday afternoon. Final tabulations read: Bristol, 57½; Burlington, 51½.

"Bill" Moll won the broad jumping event, with Howard Grant taking second place for the Warriors to give them the needed points for victory. However, "Bill" Gillies had first place with a leap of 19 feet, but the Burlington coach disqualified him.

It was a nip-and-tuck dual cinder path meet with several disputes taking place. Bristol claimed that Welker was fouled in the 229 yard dash, while Burlington disputed Bristol's victory in the relay, claiming that a Bristol boy paced the first runner. On the other hand Bristol claimed that a Burlington runner crossed into the inside lane before passing a Bristol runner.

However, the victory in the broad jump made the win so decisive that the five points scored in the relay win was not needed by the Bristol track team.

The triumph may prove costly to the Bristol team for it may lose the services of Howard Bailey, star miler. Bailey fell in this race and suffered some cuts and bruises. He did manage to finish the race and come in third.

In the hurdles which were run on time, "Bill" Moll fell and was slightly injured.

Frank Rich, Bristol junior, broke the Bristol school record for the javelin throw with a heave of 160 feet and one inch, while Palmer Sharp heaved the shot a distance of 43 feet, 9 inches.

Bristol did its best work in the field events with Rich and Sharp winning their events and Moll getting the broad jump. Harry Ratcliffe won the pole vaulting event, clearing the bar at 19 feet, four inches, and having plenty to spare. Henry Konefal and Donald Reiff tied for the high jump while Condit and DeLong captured second places.

In the running events, Herman Welker and Bob Bowen were the only Bristol winners. The relay team made a fine showing. Eckert, the first runner, was slow in getting started but Henry Konefal made up the lost distance and by the time Bob Bowen passed the baton to Welker, Bristol had a comfortable margin of over 16 yards.

Bristol would have had an easy afternoon but for two Burlington track stars in McGee and Cappello. Cappello won the 220 and low hurdles and came in third in the 100 broad jump, and high jump. McGee won the 100 and finished third in the 440 and 220.

ROHM & HAAS BOYS SMOTHER 3M TEAM

Rohm and Haas completely smothered the 3-M Club at Hunter-Wilson field as Schuber holds the bats of the M.M.M. boys to 5 scattered hits. Plastic-makers scored three in the first, one in the second, two in the fourth, and the final four in the seventh for total of ten.

Minnesota Mining tallied their only run in the fourth inning on two doubles by Butler and Valpou. Although the Scotch-fapers threatened in the sixth the superb fielding of the plexi-glassers staved off their drive.

2ND WARD WINS SOFTBALL GAME FROM ST. ANN'S

Second Ward captured its fourth straight game of the Bristol Suburban Softball League last evening as it noosed out St. Ann's A. A. on Memorial Park diamond. It was the fourth consecutive loss for the "Saints."

Both hurlers, "Mike" Angelo, of the winners, and "Chick" Cicanti, of the "Saints," had a tough time of the proceedings. At one stage of the contest, St. Ann's had a 9-0 lead, but Second Ward scored five in the fifth and four in the sixth to cop the verdict after it scored a run in the fourth.

Although it made but one hit in the first, the Wood streeters scored three times. Rudy made the hit, a single to center, and it came after Angelo had walked the first three batters.

In the third canto, the Saints scored four times on four hits, one of which was a home run from the bat of Steve Masne.

With the aid of two errors and a double by F. Sagolla, Second Ward hit the scoring column in the fourth. Its big inning, however, was in the fifth, when three errors and hits by Leo Florelli, Sam Sottile, and Sagolla accounted for five markers. Manager "Lou" Angelo's team sewed up the tilt by counting four more in the sixth on a walk to Angelo, a hit by Nate Chichiletti, an error by Rudy, and singles by Gene Barbetta and Sam Sottile.

Brescia led the St. Ann's batters with three out of four while Sagolla had three out of three for the winners.

COUNCIL ROCK NINE LOSES TITLE CHANCES

LANGHORNE, May 19 — Council Rock's hopes for the Lower Bucks County championship were practically smashed to pieces yesterday afternoon as the Langhorne Redskins beat out the Indians, 4-1, on Playwick field.

FIVE RUNS IN 4TH BY TRENTON NINE DEFEATS ST. ANN'S

TRENTON, N. J., May 19 — Five runs in the fourth inning proved to be the undoing of St. Ann's A. A. last evening as the Bristol team lost to the Trenton Pirates, 5-4, on Wetzel field in a Trenton Industrial League contest.

The Jersey team made its quintet of tallies on a hit by Risoldi, an error by Tony Cauti, and consecutive hits by Netzer, Procaccio, Gil Rossi, and Kraft. The next three batters fell in order but the five runs were enough to win.

Tony Cauti, diminutive St. Ann's moundsman, pitched a beautiful game with the exception of that disastrous fifth. He retired the side in order in the first, second, third, sixth and seventh innings. In the fifth, Netzer made his second hit of the game while in the eighth Procaccio came up with his second single.

St. Ann's had 11 safe blows in the game, but failed to hit in the clinches. It scored a run in the third when "Rabbit" Palumbo made a clean steal of home. Its final trio of runs came in the final inning on a hit by Palumbo, two errors, and a single to center by Fred Barbetta.

The "Saints" face a hard schedule next week when it plays five games in the Jersey loop.

NEW PENN SALT PLANT LOCATED IN KENTUCKY

Expect To Operate New
Fluorine Chemical Plant
Next Month

PLACE COST, $2,000,000

CALVERT CITY, KY., May 19.—The first operating phase of Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company's new fluorine chemical plant here will begin next month. It was announced today by George B. Beitzel, company president.

Under construction for approximately a year, the new $2,000,000 Calvert City Works will be devoted in its initial stages to the production of sulfuric acid and hydrofluoric acid. It will operate 24 hours a day.

Plans call for future expansion that is expected to make this plant one of the largest in the Pennsylvania chain that now extends from Pennsylvania to Washington and from Michigan to Texas, Beitzel said.

Embodiment of the latest developments in safety and in engineering design and including single and multi-story buildings, the new plant will employ initially approximately 50 people from the Calvert City-Paducah area.

As the demand for fluorine chemicals grows, the plant will be enlarged and personnel increased, according to Beitzel.

The plant area occupies approximately 10 acres of a 500-acre tract owned by Pennsalt. It is located north of Calvert City, between Paducah and the T.V.A. Kentucky dam at Gilbertville, from which electric power is received.

Water necessary for the manufacture of the acids will be pumped from the Tennessee River, 300 yards from the plant. The river also will provide economical transportation facilities. Tracks of the Illinois Central Railroad which service the plant will carry tank cars of the finished products.

James McWhirter, formerly superintendent at Pennsalt's Natrona, Pa., plant is in charge of the new operation. A specialist in fluorine chemicals, McWhirter has supervised the construction of the Calvert City Works and makes his home in Paducah. He earned his bachelor of science degree in chemistry at Middelburg College and his master's degree in chemistry at New York University.

Pennsalt, which next year reaches the century mark in its history, manufactures over 200 chemicals for farm, home and industry. Its other plants are located at Natrona, Easton and Cornwells Heights, Pa.; Wyandotte, Mich.; Portland, Ore.; Tacoma, Wash.; and Bryan, Texas. It is the only manufacturing company listed on the New York Stock Exchange that has continuously declared quarterly dividends for 86 years.

CAREFUL WASHING SAVES WEAR AND TEAR ON BLANKETS

By Miss Frances Vannoy
Home Economics Representative

Spring is in the air. Clothes lines are beginning to sag with the weight of winter coats, snow suits, jackets, and other woolen things. Winter draperies, rugs, quilts, and blankets, too, have their turn in the sunshine. A problem with many homemakers is how best to care for their woolen blankets so they retain their beauty and softness.

Certain precautions are recommended to get good results from

No article should be put away unwashed. No article should be put away unless it is clean, and blankets can be washed successfully if care is taken.

Because wool fibers shrink or felt when subject to heat, moisture, and pressure, tepid or lukewarm water is advised for the most satisfactory results. Use a mild soap to preserve the elasticity and softness of the blanket. Be sure to use the same temperature of water for washing and rinsing. A change in the temperature will cause shrinkage. Water, too, has its effects upon wool fibers.

Use soft water, if possible. It is far more desirable. Large quan-

ties of water are also needed for thorough washing. To remove water from the blanket after rinsing, fold the blanket lengthwise. Release the tension of the wringer before putting the blanket through. Hang the blanket on the line with weight distributed as evenly as possible to avoid stretching. Turn the blanket several times while it is drying, and brush with a soft brush when dry.

Suggestions for storing include folding the blanket and then rolling it and wrapping in clean heavy paper. Be sure to seal the package to protect the blanket from dust and moths. Newspaper, heavy wrapping paper, mothproof bags and boxes are good protectors, if sealed.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

THEY'LL GET YOU— at least they'll get your woolsens, your furs, if you don't watch out. Those thieving little moths seem to come from nowhere, but they come! Better put precious things in a recommended commercial vault. Snellenburgs refrigerated vaults have a fine reputation. So have their fur-alteration and reglazing departments. Snellenburgs fur storage costs 25¢ of your own valuation up to $500; 15¢ in excess of $500. Minimum charges are $3 for fur coats, jackets, capes or fur-trimmed cloth coats; $2 for scarfs, untrimmed cloth coats, suits or overcoats; nothing at all if you have $25 or more worth of repairs or alterations on a garment! A bonded messenger will call if you can't take the furs to the vaults. (2nd fl. balcony)

JOIN THE "Underground" corps of housewives. Have the man of your house dig a nice round hole for one of those so-sanitary underground steel garbage cans to be found in Snellenburgs Housewares Dept. The tight covers are worked by toe pressure. Each has a lift-out galvanized inner can with ball handle for emptying. They keep garbage safe from cats, dogs, flies. Only $6.98 for 12-gal. size, $7.98 for 15-gal. size! (3rd fl.)

DO SEW—It's fun, once you get started, and it's thrifty! Snellenburgs Cotton Yard Goods Dept. has received a shipment of these desirable "ABC" fabrics—plaques, muslins, broadcloths, etc. in gay prints and stripes. They're "Sanforized" to resist shrinkage. Width is 36 ins. Depending upon the weave, the prices are 95¢, $1, $1.19. The Pattern Dept. is only a step from the Yard Goods Dept. Get busy! (2nd floor)

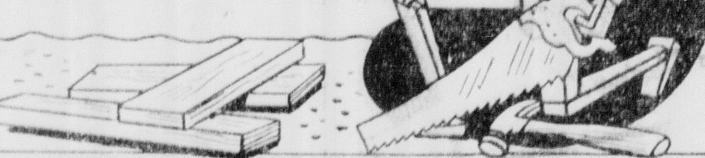

WHY IS IT that no household has enough scissors? One or more pairs should be in kitchens, bathrooms, sewing rooms, bedrooms, playrooms, hobbys, corners, and the like. Scissors are top conveniences. Expensive? Not at three pairs for $2 or 69¢ a pair. You can actually buy nice scissors for that in Snellenburgs Notions Dept. They come in 4, 5, 6 and 7 in. sizes, with blunt and pointed ends, shaped for everything from embroidery work to barbing. Don't wait too long to shop for them! (1st fl.)

GRASS TROUBLE? Try some special grass seeds that Snellenburgs Garden Corner is offering. Lawns with little sun are much improved by using Landreth's "Shady Place" grass seed. Sells for $1.99 per pound, $4.95 for 5 pounds. There's a Dr. "Seashore Seed," at $1.95 a pound, that thrives in salt air. Landreth's "Never-Die" is an extra good general purpose grass seed. It's priced at 98¢ a pound, $4.29 for 5 pounds. Dr. "Seashore" tested general purpose seed, "Evergreen," costs 98¢ a pound, $4.29 for 5 pounds. One pound of grass seed covers a hundred square feet. There's a grass seed for every bald patch on every lawn, remember! (1st fl.)

WASHINGTON WEEK

WHAT! PLAY THAT ROUGH GAME?

By Charles L. Egenroad

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19—President Truman, who proclaims against filibusters in our national Hall of Congress, is himself believed by Capitol Hill observers to have engaged in a bit of filibustering against two vitally important pieces of legislation until forced, by public opinion, to suddenly change his position.

In his State of the Union message last January 17, the Chief Executive urged Congress to enact legislation authorizing him to reorganize the Executive branch of the government.

The House of Representatives lost no time by passing back in early February just such a measure by a vote of 356 to 9, giving Mr. Truman most of the power he requested.

Another bill, providing not quite the leeway found in the House measure, was introduced simultaneously in the Senate.

Both were authored by Democrat administration stalwarts—the House bill by Congressman William L. Dawson, of Illinois, and the Senate version by Senator John L. McClelland, of Arkansas.

G. O. P. Gives All-Out Support
Republicans in the House, as the 356-9 vote indicates, gave all-out support to the bill on that side. Republican senators are equally anxious to see our bloated government reorganized into a higher degree of efficiency at a cost within taxpayers' limits.

Then followed reports of the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, appointed earlier by Mr. Truman to study the whole problem under the direction of former President Herbert Hoover.

The Hoover Report contained blue-prints for reorganization which would lead to greater efficiency, fewer bureaus and agencies, less overlapping and save the taxpayers about $3 billion a year.

Since the Hoover Report was made public, there has been no rush in the Senate to concur in the House measure, which is still pigeon-holed in the Democrat-controlled Senate committee, or to enact the Senate bill, reported out of committee nearly 6 weeks ago.

Time Is Running Out
Both measures provide that the President's governmental reorganization plan automatically becomes effective 60 days after submission by the President unless disapproved by the Congress within the 60-day period.

With little more than 60 days remaining before the statutory deadline for adjournment on July 31, Capitol observers had begun talking about what they discerned to be a bit of sleight of hand on the part of the White House to put a log-jammed Senate "on the spot" of being forced to act hastily on reorganization plans and thus accept considerably less than the Hoover Report or get nothing at all.

But, when the weight of public opinion began to be felt around town, Mr. Truman sent up a message to Congress asking that action be taken to authorize him to submit reorganization plans in final form for Congressional approval. Many observers believe that the President secretly had hoped to delay any measure to reduce government payrolls in advance of the Congressional elections in 1950.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Studebaker buying wave sweeps the nation!

Another all-time record in April!

More people bought new Studebaker cars and trucks in April 1949 than in any previous month in any year.

Studebaker sales in January, February, and March were the biggest for any quarter in Studebaker history.

Twice this year Studebaker has increased production in an attempt to meet this sensational upsurge in demand.

1949 is a Studebaker year!

HIGH SCHOOL NINE TO PLAY STRONG COUNCIL ROCK

Bristol High's baseball team faces its crucial test of the season tomorrow afternoon on Memorial Park field as it meets the strong Council Rock aggregation.

The Warriors are leading the Lower Bucks County circuit with six wins and one defeat and should triumph over Coach "Dom" Sagolla's team it will practically clinch the pennant or at the worst finish in a deadlock for first place.

Coach Jerry Bloom intends to start Dave Muth against the Council Rock team with Frank Barbetta behind the plate. The remainder of the lineup will be intact.

To date, the season record of the Bristol team is eight triumphs and three defeats. Palmyra beat the local twice.

In the last meeting between Council Rock and Bristol, the New-towners scored a 3-2 triumph being the only team in the Lower Bucks circuit to beat the Warriors.

Bristol has two more games on its schedule, meeting Bensalem and Langhorne in league tilts next week.

Suburban League Has Three Games Scheduled

The Bristol Suburban League has three games on its schedule for this evening. The Lewis Lodge of Elks will meet the Edgely A. C. nine on Memorial Park field, West Bristol plays the Hibernians on the Third Ward diamond, while the Voltz-Texaco team travels to Pennel to play Flannery's Eagles. This game will be played on the new Pennel field.

Flannery's, Voltz-Texaco, and West Bristol were victorious in the opening games Monday evening. Flannery's blanked the Hibeos while Voltz beat Edgely and West Bristol emerged victor over the Lewis Lodge of Elks.

PLEADS LIVING COSTS CAUSED HIM TO STEAL AND ROB

Joseph J. Buckley, Phila., Sentenced to Eastern "Pen" Term

SOME BRISTOL CASES

A Retired Army Captain, Charles E. Moreland, Is Paroled

DOYLESTOWN, May 19 — Giving the "high cost of living" as an excuse for his larceny and receiving stolen goods, Joseph J. Buckley, 35, Barnard avenue, Philadelphia, formerly a resident of Humesville, was sentenced to serve not less than three nor more than seven years in the Eastern State Penitentiary by Judge Hiram H. Keller.

Buckley, who is married and a father of a son, stole an electric sweeper, valued at $69, from a Newtown store April 5.

From another Newtown store, he stole a $325 television set, which he never had the nerve to sell because it contained a serial number and he was afraid of being caught. From another Newtown business man, Nov. 26 1947, he stole a radio and electric clock. Chief of Police Edward H. Bateman, of Newtown, and Assistant County Detective William L. Stackhouse, made the investigations.

Buckley, who testified that soon after his marriage the steel strike was on for 13 weeks, said he needed money to live.

"There are thousands of people who are confronted with the high cost of living and not able to keep up as high a standard as they used to, but they still don't steal," argued District Attorney Edward G. Biester.

Buckley, who is employed at a big industrial plant but is a radio man by hobby, admitted that he lost another job because the owner accused him of stealing more than $1,000 worth of merchandise from the store.

Leon Collins, 22, Oxford Valley, who pleaded guilty to burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods, which consisted of antique dishes and chairs, was sentenced by President Judge Keller to serve not less than six months nor more than 23 months in the County Prison.

Paul Sterling, Fallington, a helper, stole dishes, valued at $175, and six plank-backed chairs, valued at $100, from the Hibbs estate. Trooper Andrew J. Kutney, Langhorne, Pennsylvania State Police, investigated the case. A fine of $50 and the costs of prosecution were also imposed.

Mrs. Mary Bradley, 46, of Bristol, who pleaded guilty to drunken driving Feb. 16 and was arrested by Officer William McCann, of the Bristol Police Department, was directed to pay a fine of $150 and the costs of prosecution, which amounted to $30. Because she did not have the cash, she was remanded to the County Prison until she gets the money.

Rollins F. Hetzel, 25, who pleaded guilty to driving a truck after his operator's license had been revoked, was directed to pay $100 and the costs of prosecution. Sentence was suspended.

State Police C. J. Sauer, Pennsylvania State Trooper, arrested Hetzel April 21. He said he was driving a truck for a friend who had the shingles. Hetzel served three months in the County Prison for having pleaded guilty to larceny and receiving stolen goods October 17, 1944.

Car Stolen Here; Then Abandoned for Another

A car was stolen this morning from in front of a residence here, later to be abandoned for one stolen from in front of a residence at Bristol Terrace I.

The Jackson car was taken from in front of the residence of Bertha E. Jackson, 589 Bath street, and left in front of the home of Robert Adams, Schumacher Drive, Bristol Terrace I.

The Jackson car was a 1948 Plymouth sedan, while the Adams car was a 1946 Plymouth sedan. Why a newer car was exchanged for an older one has not been learned. It is reasoned that perhaps the newer car had less gasoline in it than the older machine.

The automobile of Stella Palermo, 261 Monroe street, parked in front of her home during the night, was also stolen. It was reported to Bristol police.

State police at Langhorne barracks received reports of three other cars stolen in this area during the night, and of a car stolen in Philadelphia being found at Croydon. Details were lacking at a late hour this morning.

TAINT FAIR!

On March 2 the Navy was climaxing its biggest postwar maneuvers with a gigantic amphibious exercise in the Caribbean. That same day an Air Force B-50 Superfortress,
"Lucky Lady II," just happened to complete the first non-stop flight around the world.

The Air Force got the headlines of big type. The Navy was sore. Congress, at the time, was considering how much money to spend on the armed forces.

It has since become clear that congressional sentiment favors a much more liberal spending policy for the Air Force than for the Army or Navy.

Last week the Navy was showing off its Constitution, the world's largest passenger plane.
On Wednesday the 92-ton, 180-passenger ship alighted at Oklahoma City. It was getting plenty of attention from the crowd when a distant roar was heard. Looking up, the people saw another giant plane approaching. It just happened to be an Air Force B-36, the world's largest military-type aircraft. It let down low and buzzed the crowd and the Navy plane. It got the crowd's attention.

In more normal, more relaxed times in military circles the affair would have been regarded as simply a salute by one service to another. It might be likened to the welcoming of a great new steamship in New York Harbor—when the biggest ships in port tie down their whistles in a terrific din in honor of the newcomer to the business.

But at Oklahoma City, under present circumstances, the Navy wasn't happy. It felt the Air Force's motives were not of pure good will. If this suspicion was accurate, then the plot was unfair —wholly unworthy of the brave defenders of the Wild Blue Yonder!

BUSINESS IN CHINA

When the communists take over Shanghai, American business interests there will have small chance of operating profitably. But a majority of these concerns will remain in the hope they can adjust themselves and their affairs to the new regime. Since the reds took over Tientsin American-owned banks, with one exception, have been forced to close.
The same thing will happen in Shanghai.

American interests have $120-000,000 invested in Shanghai, which constitutes 80 per cent of all American holdings in China. The British have more than seven times that investment. There are 200 American concerns now operating in Shanghai, mostly corporations. The number has decreased greatly since war conditions became acute.

Normally American business with China isn't large. Total exports to that country in 1947 were valued at $353,000,000.

Communist Eisler paid 25 cents to get aboard the ship on which he fled from this country.
Cheap guy, besides what else he is.

Humeville Ladies' Aid Marks 70th Anniversary

HUMEVILLE, May 19—Sixty-eight gathered at banquet tables in Epworth hall of Neshaminy Methodist Church last evening, to celebrate the 70th anniversary of the organizing of the Ladies' Aid Society. On this occasion a dinner was served; program of entertainment given; brief history of the organization presented; and four women who have been affiliated with the Aid for over 30 years were honored.

The short history of the Aid as given by the president, Mrs. Hugh B. Webster, included unusual bits of information taken from early minute books. She told how the Aid was formed on April 2, 1879, at the Methodist parsonage, the first president and the organizer being Mrs. Cook, wife of the one serving as pastor at that time. Some articles of the constitution were mentioned; and the group was informed that in the early days several men were also members. Over half a century ago among the methods of raising money was the serving, every New Year's Day, of dinners to the horse company in this area, the work including preparation of 2100 oysters, five pigs, etc. Years ago meetings were held in Burlington, N. J., Bristol, Bensalem, Langhorne, and other points, some members living at a distance from here.
Early complaints were that trips by carriage to some functions at a distance were too expensive, due to toll road fees.

The four members honored, and who were presented with pins were: Mrs. Edwin W. Henry, a member for 46 years; Mrs. Edward VanArtsdalen, 39 years; Mrs. Ash-bel Buckman, 37 years; Mrs.
Alfred Woolman, 33 years. Mrs.
Henry and Mrs. Woolman were unable to be present.

Invited guests included husbands of Aid members, members of the official board, the adult choir, and others.

The program which followed the dinner was announced as follows
by Mrs. Samuel K. Faust: Group singing; piano solo, "O Travatore," Miss Clara L. Hillick; baritone soli, "Recessional" and "Sing Me To Sleep," Henry Mills; selections by vocal trio, "Galway Bay" and "Forever and Ever," the Misses Grace H.
Hillick and Adeline E. Reetz, and Mrs. Elwyn Neitzel; piano solo,
Mrs. William Gotthardt; remarks, the Rev. John C. Kulp, pastor; vocal soli, "Indian Love Call" and "My Hero," Miss Marian Voorhees.

Pictures in natural color were then shown. Miss Adeline E. Reetz presented reels of motion pictures, including scenes of a rodeo and parade in southern California; and others taken in the Hawaiian Islands last August. Another reel included many members of the local church and Sunday School taken after a morning service about 10 years ago. Slides of Hawaiian Island scenes were also shown by Miss Elma E. Macner.

The menu included: Fresh fruit cup, baked ham, escaloped potatoes, peas, cole slaw, cranberry sauce, rolls, butter, coffee, tea, home-made cake, ice cream, and mints, the latter being in plastic baskets. Each of the tables was in a different pastel tone, yellow, pink and blue being used. The candles, flowers, napkins and decorations on the cakes (with the wording "70th Anniversary") were in the pastel shades. Welcome was extended by Mrs. Webster, and the blessing asked by the Rev. Mr. Kulp. Members of the official board served the dinner which Aid members prepared.

Germany's Basic Law

The American theory of such rights is to be found set forth in the Declaration of Independence:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

When in 1787 the Constitutional Convention recommended the ratification by the people of the several states the body of the present U. S. Constitution, American public opinion made a momentous decision.

It would ratify no Constitution which lacked a bill of rights—lacked a statement of personal immunities and privileges upon which the Federal Government would be forever barred from trespassing. This point of view, for which Thomas Jefferson was principal spokesman, prevailed. The Constitution was ratified only with the promise that a bill of rights would be incorporated in it. Hence the first ten amendments.

Earlier in this article, attention was called to the profound difference between a "constitution" and a "basic law."

The German charter, not being submitted to the people, cannot correctly be called a "constitution." The German people themselves have had no voice in its acceptance. Had there been an attempt made, in 1787, to put the original Constitution into effect without ratification, it would have encountered overwhelming opposition; but through the act of ratification, the American people were able to insist on the inclusion of some of its most important passages—the Bill of Rights.

The American Bill of Rights touches on some of the most significant fields in which the power of government is limited in its dealings with individual citizens.

The manner in which this is done is most significant: Congress was prohibited from passing laws limiting the rights of the citizens in these fields.

Included are such matters as religion, free speech and press, the right of assembly and petition, the right to keep and bear arms, peaceable quartering of soldiers, immunity from search and seizure except for probable cause, detention without an indictment, double jeopardy, self-incrimination, seizure of property or person without due process and (in the case of property) without compensation, speedy public trial by jury, right to confront witnesses, right to subpoena witnesses, right to counsel, right to jury trial in civil suits, right not to suffer from excessive bail or fines, immunity from cruel and unusual punishments, and the broader right to all other rights not enumerated in the Constitution or specifically given to the Federal government.

Certain other basic human rights and guarantees not listed in the bill of rights are elsewhere in the Constitution. For instance, the right of habeas corpus, immunity from attainder and ex post facto laws, and in some ways, most important of all—right of access to the Federal judiciary for any case in law or equity in which the citizen believes his constitutional rights infringed.

Now, a comparison of this list—which is certainly not an exhaustive list of all personal rights guaranteed against Federal invasion by the American Constitution—with similar parts of the German basic law will show many significant omissions in the latter code.

However, without attempting to list the parts of the American Bill of Rights not even referred to in the German charter, there is a still more important difference.

As noted above, the main Constitutional protection is the prohibition of laws invading these rights—"Congress shall make no law, etc."

But in the German charter, the situation is reversed. Instead of being prohibited from limitations on constitutional rights through legislative enactments, the German government is explicitly authorized to interpret and limit these rights by law.

In every case where a so-called right is set forth, there immediately follows a passage giving the legislative branch of government power to "define," limit and, as a practical matter, destroy, this very same right.

"These rights (free speech) shall be limited by law, etc."

"These rights (life and freedom) may be interfered with only on the basis of the legal order."

"Details (of freedom of religion and conscience) shall be regulated by a federal law."

"This right (freedom of assembly) may be restricted by legislation or on a basis of law."

"Restrictions (on secrecy of mail) may be ordered only on a basis of law."

"This right (of freedom of movement) may be restricted only by legislation, etc."

"Contents and limitations (on the right of owning and inheriting property) shall be determined by legislation."

But this is by no means the extent to which these supposedly God-given rights are limited by the German government.

An ingenious paragraph (Article 18) in its application makes it virtually mandatory on all citizens to be able to prove they are not using these rights "to attack the free democratic basis."

This Article is worth quoting in full—for it holds the germ of the rebirth of the Gestapo, and in any event certainly leaves the invasion of the "constitutionally guaranteed rights" open not only to the legislative branch, as cited above, but to the executive and judicial as well.

"Whoever abuses freedom of expression of opinion, in particular, freedom of the press; freedom of teaching; freedom of assembly; freedom of association; secrecy of mail, post and telecommunications; property; or the right of asylum in order to attack the free democratic basis and order shall forfeit these basic rights. Forfeiture and its extent shall be pronounced by a federal constitutional court."

Anyone who still has any lingering faith that the new German basic law was "modeled" after the American pattern has only to consider the implications of that provision, to realize that there is no resemblance beyond some of the surface phraseology.

That one paragraph alone is sufficient to indict the German basic law in the minds of all liberty-loving peoples—particularly when the code is being represented as a counterpart of the American Constitution.

Even this sweeping provision for the policing of citizens in their exercise of their "rights" is not all which the basic law does to limit them.

What is the recourse of an American citizen who feels that his Constitutional rights have been invaded? He can appeal to the Federal judiciary.

The Supreme and other Federal Courts, in this land, are the watchdog of individual rights and freedom.

One of the greatest glories of the American pattern has been that the humblest citizen, believing himself oppressed by the majestic officers of government, could—and repeatedly has—carried his suit to the highest court in the nation, there to find "equal justice for all."

Does the German citizen have such guardian?

Unhappily, no!

The new basic law sets up an elaborate court system. There is a Federal Constitutional Court, and a Supreme Federal Court, Federal Ministers of Justice, and provision for other type of Federal sub-judicialities, including Higher Federal Courts.

But the Constitutional Court is primarily to act as arbiter between branches and sub-branches of the government—not between Government and citizen. The Supreme Court is to "decide in cases where the decision is of fundamental importance of the uniformity of justice in the higher federal courts." And the Higher Federal Courts "will be established for the spheres of ordinary administrative, finance, labor and social jurisdiction."

Where does the man with just cause for grievance, relating to his basic rights, come out, in this pattern? Apparently, he doesn't.

If any provision in a charter of government pretending to be "republican," "democratic" or "free" is supremely important, it would seem to be one guaranteeing the individual citizen the right to appeal to courts for interpretation and protection of his other rights.

Try to find such a passage in the new German basic law!

at $20, from the desk drawer of the Bristol Processing Company, was given suspended sentence by Judge Keller, who placed the youth on probation for one year and directed him to pay the costs of prosecution.

Chief Linford C. Jones, of Bristol, said the youth stole the revolver March 14 when he was laid off by his plant. The defendant could give no reason for his conduct.

A retired Army captain, Charles E. Moreland, formerly of Lacey Park, now of Ventnor, N. J., was paroled by Judge Keller yesterday after serving some time in prison here for assault and battery which grew out of beating his wife in their Lacey Park home. His minimum six months' sentence would have expired May 30. He is a former radio engineer.

Dillon Biggers, 28, Langhorne Negro, who pleaded guilty to assault and battery on his wife, Anna, mother of their three children, by beating her with a clothes prop, April 30, was placed on probation indefinitely. He is under a support order now and was directed to pay costs of prosecution amounting to $64.

John Becker, formerly of Parkland, now of Philadelphia, and a Langhorne wallpaper mill worker, was given a suspended sentence on condition that he pays the costs of prosecution amounting to $61. James Berry and his wife, Marguerite, testified the defendant attacked them with a shotgun May 4. Bitter feelings existed because Becker resided in a house over which James Berry was caretaker.

Finish Aqueduct At Lumberville Project

NEW HOPE, May 19 — Restoration of the Delaware Canal is gradually being accomplished according to engineers engaged in constructing an aqueduct at Point Pleasant.

When completed, the aqueduct will be 12-feet wide with walls six-feet high. Steel girders will support a reinforced concrete trough which will carry the canal waters over the creek.

Engineers pointed out that a small aqueduct, a 54-foot span at Lumberville, has been completed. This aqueduct will soon be ready to have the boards removed from the sides and base.

Three locks are being rebuilt, new gates constructed and dams built between Lumberville and New Hope. Between Point Pleasant and Ingham Creek, several new locks and stop walls also are being constructed.

Since the eight-mile stretch between Point Pleasant and New Hope was the most seriously damaged by the 1936 flood, the problems of reconstruction there are the most difficult.

BROAD JUMP WINS TRACK MEET FOR BRISTOL HIGH

BURLINGTON, N. J., May 19.—First and second place in the broad jump gave Bristol High's track team a victory over Burlington High here, yesterday afternoon. Final tabulations read: Bristol, 57½; Burlington, 51½.

"Bill" Moll won the broad jumping event, with Howard Grant taking second place for the Warriors to give them the needed points for victory. However, "Bill" Gillies had first place with a leap of 19 feet, but the Burlington coach disqualified him.

It was a nip-and-tuck dual cinder path meet with several disputes taking place. Bristol claimed that Welker was fouled in the 229 yard dash, while Burlington disputed Bristol's victory in the relay, claiming that a Bristol boy paced the first runner. On the other hand Bristol claimed that a Burlington runner crossed into the inside lane before passing a Bristol runner.

However, the victory in the broad jump made the win so decisive that the five points scored in the relay win was not needed by the Bristol track team.

The triumph may prove costly to the Bristol team for it may lose the services of Howard Bailey, star miler. Bailey fell in this race and suffered some cuts and bruises. He did manage to finish the race and come in third.

In the hurdles which were run on time, "Bill" Moll fell and was slightly injured.

Frank Rich, Bristol junior, broke the Bristol school record for the javelin throw with a heave of 160 feet and one inch, while Palmer Sharp heaved the shot a distance of 43 feet, 9 inches.

Bristol did its best work in the field events with Rich and Sharp winning their events and Moll getting the broad jump. Harry Ratcliffe won the pole vaulting event, clearing the bar at 19 feet, four inches, and having plenty to spare. Henry Konefal and Donald Reiff tied for the high jump while Condit and DeLong captured second places.

In the running events, Herman Welker and Bob Bowen were the only Bristol winners. The relay team made a fine showing. Eckert, the first runner, was slow in getting started but Henry Konefal made up the lost distance and by the time Bob Bowen passed the baton to Welker, Bristol had a comfortable margin of over 10 yards.

Bristol would have had an easy afternoon but for two Burlington track stars in McGee and Cappello. Cappello won the 229 and low hurdles and came in third in the 1-0 broad jump, and high jump. McGee won the 100 and finished third in the 440 and 229.

The winners:

100 yd. dash: 1st, McGee, Burlington; 2nd, Oliver, Burlington; 3rd, Cappello, Burlington. Time: 1:11.

440 yd. dash: 1st, Welker, Bristol; 2nd, Oliver, Burlington; 3rd, McGee, Burlington. Time: 2:59.

800 yd. run: 1st, Bowen, Bristol; 2nd, Nickerson, Bristol; 3rd, Marty, Burlington. Time: 2:10.

1½ mile run: 1st, Russell, Burlington; 2nd, Haines, Burlington; 3rd, Bailey, Burlington. Time: 10:53.

229 yd. hurdles: 1st, Cappello, Burlington; 2nd, Mostie, Burlington; 3rd, Hayes, Burlington. Time: 2:38.

Broad jump: 1st, Moll, Bristol; 2nd, Grant, Bristol; 3rd, Cappello, Burlington. Distance: 19' 11".

High jump: 1st (tied), Konefal and Reiff, Bristol; 3rd (tied), Ratcliffe, Bristol, Cappello, Burlington. Height: 6' 4".

Pole vault: 1st, Ratcliffe, Bristol; 2nd, Konefal, Burlington. Height: 19' 4".

Javelin throw: 1st, Rich, Bristol; 2nd, DeLong, Bristol; 3rd, Gerchatis, Burlington. Distance: 160' 1".

Shot put: 1st, Weir, Burlington; 2nd, Condit, Bristol; 3rd, Sharp, Bristol. Distance: 43' 9".

ROHM & HAAS BOYS SMOTHER 3M TEAM

Rohm and Haas completely smothered the 3-M Club at Hunter-Wilson field as Spencer holds the bats of the M.M.M. boys to 5 scattered hits. Plastic-makers scored three in the first, one in the second, two in the fourth, and the final four in the seventh for total of ten.

Minnesota Mining tallied their only run in the fourth inning on two doubles by Buller and Valpou. Although the Scotch-tapers threatened in the sixth the superb fielding of the plexi-glassers stayed off their drive.

2ND WARD WINS SOFTBALL GAME FROM ST. ANN'S

Second Ward captured its fourth straight game of the Bristol Suburban Softball League last evening as it nosed out St. Ann's A. A. on Memorial Park diamond. It was the fourth consecutive loss for the "Saints."

Both hurlers, "Mike" Angelo, of the winners, and "Chick" Cicanti, of the "Saints," had a tough time of the proceedings. At one stage of the contest, St. Ann's had a 9-0 lead, but Second Ward scored five in the fifth and four in the sixth to cop the verdict after it scored a run in the fourth.

Although it made but one hit in the first, the Wood streeters scored three times. Rudy made the hit, a single to center, and it came after Angelo had walked the first three batters.

In the third canto, the Saints scored four times on four hits, one of which was a home run from the bat of Steve Masne.

With the aid of two errors and a double by F. Sagolla, Second Ward hit the scoring column in the fourth. Its big inning, however, was in the fifth, when three errors and hits by Leo Fiorelli, Sam Sottile, and Sagolla accounted for five markers. Manager "Lou" Angelo's team sewed up the tilt by counting four more in the sixth on a walk to Angelo, a hit by Nate Chichiletti, an error by Rudy, and singles by Gene Barbetta and Sam Sottile.

Brescia led the St. Ann's batters with three out of four while Sagolla had three out of three for the winners.

COUNCIL ROCK NINE LOSES TITLE CHANCES

LANGHORNE, May 19 — Council Rock's hopes for the Lower Bucks County championship were practically smashed to pieces yesterday afternoon as the Langhorne Redskins beat out the Indians, 4-1, on Playwicky field.

"Charlie" Maurer pitched for the winners while "Charlie" Teschner was the losing pitcher. Council Rock out-hit the boys of Coach "Jim" Egli but Langhorne made their hits count.

FIVE RUNS IN 4TH BY TRENTON NINE DEFEATS ST. ANN'S

TRENTON, N. J., May 19 — Five runs in the fourth inning proved to be the undoing of St. Ann's A. A. last evening as the Bristol team lost to the Trenton Pirates, 5-4, on Wetzel field in a Trenton Industrial League contest.

The Jersey team made its quintet of tallies on a hit by Risoldi, an error by Tony Cauti, and consecutive hits by Netzer, Procaccino, Gil Rossi, and Kraft. The next three batters fell in order but the five runs were enough to win.

Tony Cauti, diminutive St. Ann's moundsman, pitched a beautiful game with the exception of that disastrous fifth. He retired the side in order in the first, second, third, sixth and seventh innings. In the fifth, Netzer made his second hit of the game while in the eighth Procaccino came up with his second single.

St. Ann's had 11 safe blows in the game, but failed to hit in the clinches. It scored a run in the third when "Rabbit" Palumbo made a clean steal of home. Its final trio of runs came in the final inning on a hit by Palumbo, two errors, and a single to center by Fred Barbetta.

The "Saints" face a hard schedule next week when it plays five games in the Jersey loop.

NEW PENN SALT PLANT LOCATED IN KENTUCKY

Expect To Operate New
Flourine Chemical Plant
Next Month

PLACE COST, $2,000,000

CALVERT CITY, KY., May 19.—The first operating phase of Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company's new fluorine chemical plant here will begin next month, it was announced today by George B. Beitel, company president.

Under construction for approximately a year, the new $2,000,000 Calvert City Works will be devoted in its initial stages to the production of sulfuric acid and hydrofluoric acid. It will operate 24 hours a day.

Plans call for future expansion that is expected to make this plant one of the largest in the Pennsalt chain that now extends from Pennsylvania to Washington and from Michigan to Texas, Beitel said.

Embodying the latest developments in safety and in engineering design and including single and multi-story buildings, the new plant will employ initially approximately 50 people from the Calvert City-Paducah area.

As the demand for fluorine chemicals grows, the plant will be enlarged and personnel increased, according to Beitel.

The plant area occupies approximately 10 acres of a 500-acre tract owned by Pennsalt. It is located north of Calvert City, between Paducah and the T.V.A. Kentucky dam at Gilbertville, from which electric power is received.

Water necessary for the manufacture of the acids will be pumped from the Tennessee River, 500 yards from the plant. The river also will provide economical transportation facilities. Tracks of the Illinois Central Railroad which service the plant will carry tank cars of the finished products.

James McWhirter, formerly superintendent at Pennsalt's Natrona, Pa., plant is in charge of the new operation. A specialist in fluorine chemicals, McWhirter has supervised the construction of the Calvert City Works and makes his home in Paducah. He earned his bachelor of science degree in chemistry at Middieburg College and his master's degree in chemistry at New York University.

Pennsalt, which next year reaches the century mark in its history, manufactures over 200 chemicals for farm, home and industry. Its other plants are located at Natrona, Easton and Cornwells Heights, Pa.; Wyandotte, Mich.; Portland, Ore.; Tacoma, Wash.; and Bryan, Texas.

It is the only manufacturing company listed on the New York Stock Exchange that has continuously declared quarterly dividends for 36 years.

CAREFUL WASHING SAVES WEAR AND TEAR ON BLANKETS

By Miss Frances Vannoy
Home Economics Representative

Spring is in the air. Clothes lines are beginning to sag with the weight of winter coats, snow suits, jackets, and other woolen things. Winter draperies, rugs, quilts, and blankets, too, have their turn in the sunshine. A problem with many homemakers is how best to care for their woolen blankets so they retain their beauty and softness.

Certain precautions are recommended to get good results from

No article should be put away unwashed. No article should be put away unless it is clean, and blankets can be washed successfully if care is taken.

Because wool fibers shrink or felt when subject to heat, moisture, and pressure, tepid or lukewarm water is advised for the most satisfactory results. Use a mild soap to preserve the elasticity and softness of the blanket. Be sure to use the same temperature of water for washing and rinsing. A change in the temperature will cause shrinkage. Water, too, has its effects upon wool fibers.

Use soft water, if possible. It is far more desirable. Large quan-

ties of water are also needed for thorough washing. To remove water from the blanket after rinsing, fold the blanket lengthwise. Release the tension of the wringer before putting the blanket through. Hang the blanket on the line with weight distributed as evenly as possible to avoid stretching. Turn the blanket several times while it is drying, and brush with a soft brush when dry.

Suggestions for storing include folding the blanket and then rolling it and wrapping in clean heavy paper. Be sure to seal the package to protect the blanket from dust and moths. Newspaper, heavy wrapping paper, mothproof bags and boxes are good protectors, if sealed.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

THEY'LL GET YOU—at least they'll get your woolens, your furs, if you don't watch out. Those thieving little moths seem to come from nowhere, but they come! Better put precious things in a recommended commercial vault. Snellenburgs' refrigerated vaults have a fine reputation. So have their fur-alteration and re-plating Depts. Snellenburgs' fur storage costs 2% of your own valuation up to $500, 1% in excess of $500. Minimum charges are $3 for fur coats, jackets, capes or fur-trimmed cloth coats; $2 for scarfs, untrimmed cloth coats, suits or overcoats; nothing at all if you have $25 or more worth of repairs or alterations on a garment! A bonded messenger will call if you can't take the furs to the vaults. (2nd fl. balcony)

COMFORT SUPREME is to be found in the new sponge-rubber bed-pillows. They never lump, limp or sag, and they yield as gently as a cloud to the shape of the head. I know—I sleep on one. Furthermore, they are 100% allergy proof as well as moth, mildew and vermin proof. You'll find them in Snellenburgs' Bed Coverings Dept. Each is enclosed in a "Sanitized" cotton case of rose, blue or white. Try 'em. You'll never go back to hair, feathers or even down! Priced at $9.95. (2nd fl.)

KNOW-HOW GARDENING. The trial and error method of gardening can be discouraging even to folks with "green thumbs." On the other hand, with the right kind of gardening book at hand you can garden with glee. Snellenburgs' Book Dept. has a corner of good gardening books, and one of the best is the large "Woman's Home Companion Gardening Book" that's priced at $4.95. It covers practically everything—flowers, vegetables, soils, trees, shrubs, etc., and the information is written by experts. Whether you live north, south, east or west, it's your gardening dish! Nice for gift-giving, too. 24 color photos, 56 black-and-whites. (1st fl.)

SUMMER PILLOWS covered with gay cretonnes do perk up porches, sunrooms and livingrooms. Snellenburgs' Art Needlework Dept. has a grand supply, tailor-trimmed, and at a grand price—$1.29 for a $1.98 value. Tuck two or three of these pillows in the children's playrooms and bedrooms, too. They're a good size for floor-sitting or pillow-fighting. Let the young fry have fun! (2nd floor)

GRASS TROUBLE? Try some special grass seeds that Snellenburgs' Garden Corner is offering. Lawns with little sun are much improved by using Landreth's "Shady Place" grass seed. Sells for $1.09 per pound, $4.95 for 5 pounds. There's a Deere "Seashore Seed" at $1.05 a pound, that thrives in salt air. Landreth's "Never-Die" is an extra good general purpose grass seed. It's priced at 98¢ a pound, $4.29 for 5 pounds. Deere's tested general purpose seed, "Evergreen," costs 98¢ a pound, $4.29 for 5 pounds. One pointed end, shaped for everything from embroidery work to barbing. Don't wait too long to shop for them! (1st fl.)

WHAT! PLAY THAT ROUGH GAME?

By Charles L. Egenroad

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19—President Truman, who proclaims against filibusters in our national Hall of Congress, is himself believed by Capitol Hill observers to have engaged in a bit of filibustering against two vitally important pieces of legislation until forced, by public opinion, to suddenly change his position.

In his State of the Union message last January 17, the Chief Executive urged Congress to enact legislation authorizing him to reorganize the Executive branch of the government.

The House of Representatives lost no time by passing back in early February just such a measure by a vote of 356 to 9, giving Mr. Truman most of the power he requested.

Another bill, providing not quite the leeway found in the House measure, was introduced simultaneously in the Senate.

Both were authored by Democrat administration stalwarts—the House bill by Congressman William L. Dawson, of Illinois, and the Senate version by Senator John L. McClelland, of Arkansas.

Republicans in the House, as the 356-9 vote indicates, gave all-out support to the bill on that side. Republican senators are equally anxious to see our bloated government reorganized into a higher degree of efficiency at a cost within taxpayers' limits.

Then followed reports of the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, appointed earlier by Mr. Truman to study the whole problem under the direction of former President Herbert Hoover.

The Hoover Report contained blue-prints for reorganization which would lead to greater efficiency, fewer bureaus and agencies, less overlapping and save the taxpayers about $3 billion a year.

Since the Hoover Report was made public, there has been no rush in the Senate to concur in the House measure, which is still pigeonholed in the Democrat-controlled Senate committee, or to enact the Senate bill, reported out of committee nearly 6 weeks ago.

Time Is Running Out
Both measures provide that the president's governmental reorganization plan automatically becomes effective 60 days after submission by the President unless disapproved by the Congress within the 60-day period.

With little more than 60 days remaining before the statutory deadline for adjournment on July 31, Capitol observers had begun talking about what they discerned to be a bit of sleight of hand on the part of the White House to put a log-jammed Senate "on the spot" of being forced to act hastily on reorganization plans and thus accept considerably less than the Hoover Report or get nothing at all.

But, when the weight of public opinion began to be felt around town, Mr. Truman sent up a message to Congress asking that action be taken to authorize him to submit reorganization plans in final form for Congressional approval. Many observers believe that the President secretly had hoped to delay any measure to reduce government payrolls in advance of the Congressional elections in 1950.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

HIGH SCHOOL NINE TO PLAY STRONG COUNCIL ROCK

Bristol High's baseball team faces its crucial test of the season tomorrow afternoon on Memorial Park field as it meets the strong Council Rock aggregation.

The Warriors are leading the Lower Bucks County circuit with six wins and one defeat and should it triumph over Coach "Dom" Saccolia's team it will practically clinch the pennant or at the worst finish in a deadlock for first place.

Coach Jerry Bloom intends to start Dave Muth against the Council Rock team with Frank Barbetta behind the plate. The remainder of the lineup will be intact.

To date, the season record of the Bristol team is eight triumphs and three defeats. Palmyra beat the local twice.

In the last meeting between Council Rock and Bristol, the New-towners scored a 3-2 triumph being the only team in the Lower Bucks circuit to beat the Warriors.

Bristol has two more games on its schedule, meeting Bensalem and Langhorne in league tilts next week.

Suburban League Has Three Games Scheduled

The Bristol Suburban League has three games on its schedule for this evening. The Lewis Lodge of Elks will meet the Edgely A. C. nine on Memorial Park field, West Bristol plays the Hibernians on the Third Ward diamond, while the Voltz-Texaco team travels to Penn-del to play Flannery's Eagles. This game will be played on the new Penn-del field.

Flannery's, Voltz-Texaco, and West Bristol were victorious in the opening games Monday evening. Flannery's blanked the Hiboes while Voltz beat Edgely and West Bristol emerged victor over the Lewis Lodge of Elks.
